DECISION WITHIN TEN DAYS

As To What Will Be Done About Replacing
Rockport's Bridge

Firs Selectman Arthur Walker of Rockport, queried this morning by The Courier-Gazette on the prospects of a new bridge in Rockport to replace the Goose River bridge knocked down two weeks ago by a heavily laden truck, stated that State engineers are still conducting a survey of the old location and also that of a possible new site.

No plans have as yet been submitted to the State Highway Department in Augusta for approval. However, it is possible that the new bridge may cross the river about 50 feet toward the harbor from the old site which will allow it to more nearly line up with the main street of the village.

A decision as to location and type of bridge is expected within 10 days. Whether the new crossing will be a single steel span as before, an earth fill or a concrete causeway built on cement piers is yet undecided.

Earl C. Marden, North Haven R.F.D. driver and mail carrier was fined $100 and costs of $29.75 in Rockland Municipal Court Wednesday morning on charges of drunk driving. The arresting officer was town constable Norman L. Morrison who stated that the offense took place on the town highway between Sleepy Hollow and North Haven Village.

The Red Kettle

Again Invites Your Attention
For Salvation Army
Christmas

Major A. Thompson of the local Salvation Army Corps, wishes to announce, through the medium of this paper, that beginning Saturday the familiar red kettle with its smiling Salvation Army lassies will be seen on the streets of Rockland.

With the approaching of the Christmas season, the Salvation Army once again begins its special effort and urges all who pass by the familiar kettles, to stop and drop into them out of the abundance of their hearts.

All that is given will be deeply appreciated by Major Thompson and his staff of workers and all who give can be assured that their money will be put to good use.

Moran Steps Down

Will Remain In the Council
But Not As Its Chairman

Edward C. Moran, for the past year chairman of the Rockland City Council, indicated this morning that he will not be a candidate for the position in the second City Council, under the Council-Manager form of government.

According to Mr. Moran, he believes that the chairmanship of the board should not stay in the hands of one person from Council to Council but should change by vote of the board with each incoming Council. He will remain as a member of the Council for the remaining two years of his three year term for which he was elected one year ago but will act as a member only.

The New Council forms officially Dec. 16 at which time Osgood A. Gilbert will enter a full three-year term to which he was elected last Monday in the Municipal elections.

Knox County has joined with other Maine counties in choosing a name for the new 60 acre blueberry experimental station being operated by the State near Jonesboro. The Knox County Committee consisting of County Agent Wentworth, County Club Agent Mrs. Leona Shibles, Home Demonstration Agent Miss Priscilla Moore, former 4-H Club Agent, Mrs. Ruth Clark Wagon and John M. Richardson of The Courier-Gazette have selected their entries and sent them in for final judging.

"Uncle Ben" Will Be The Judge

Der trile of a senshury is comin in der nex week or tu tuh dis pritty littul burg called Rockland. Instead o' holdin dese Sheshul Seshuns in our small Rockland Court House der cases will be tried in der commodious quarters dat will soon be occupied by der noo Windsor House Palm Room at 12 Moytut Street. That old busybody, Uncle Ben, will be der judge and dose culprits will be a bunch o' der bestus Italian Spaghetti cookers in dis part o' Maine. As dese cookers prepair their evidence of wat dey tink is rude in Italian Spaghetti, Uncle Ben will test der result an der best man will be free tuh continue prepairin dat delectable fude dat Italian Spaghetti lovers crave fur. Der udder cookers on rile will be banished tuh parts unknown as Uncle Ben wants only der bestus tuh cater tuh dose Rockland pepul who appreciate rude fude. So-o-o-o, if yer see Uncle Ben strollin down Main Street wid wat looks like a nu crop o' whiskers, tink nuddin of it, as perhaps he has just found dat tasty dish o' Italian Spaghetti he has bin lookin fur an dove in bed first tuh giv it a closer test. Gude Italian Spaghetti is like a gude licker. It must hav taste, aromaer and bokay. A gang o' ren are now at wurk transformin der Dinin Room o' der Windsor House in tuh a place o' beutty Sheshul booths are bein installee an der decorashuns are fireproof as well as beaootyful. If der feller who traded his heritage fur a mess o' pottidge a cupful o' cream ago, or was it a cupful o' thousand years ago, could cern back tuh Rockland he wud probly want tuh trade dat same old birthright fur a secon helpin o' dat tasty Italian Spaghetti which will be der sheshully o' Rockland's newest dinin place, der Windsor House Palm Room, which will be opun soon. Watch our local newspapers fur der Summons dat will call yuh tuh der fude wid der taste appeel. Real honest tuh gudeness, Italian Spaghetti. Hopin tuh see yuh on de bench soon.

Yaws trooly,
UNCLE BEN.

P. S.—Any teller or gude girl cooker of real Italian Spaghetti who wishes tuh submit evidence o' their ability in prepairin dis tasty dish can do so by telephonin Rockland 670 fur details.

FRIENDSHIP HAS BAD FIRE

S. E. Prior's Store, Badly Damaged—Blaze
Fought By Three Departments

The general hardware building supply sporting goods store and barber shop of S. E. Prior in Friendship was damaged to the extent of an estimated $20,000 by fire early yesterday morning.

Firemen were called from Waldoboro and Rockland to aid the Friendship department, drawing water from a town reservoir which was built a few years ago by citizens who anticipated just such an emergency.

Fire Chief Van E. Russell estimated the building loss at about 30 percent of total value and about 90 percent loss on the stock.

The store carried a wide variety of items in the building ship chandlery trades as well as furniture. In his spare time, the proprietor found time to cut the hair of his neighbors in a barber shop set in the corner of the establishment.

It is understood that Mr. Prior will rebuild as soon as materials are available.

The call for assistance was received by the Rockland department at 1.50 a. m., the run being made to Friendship in 34 minutes with Chief Russell, Wesley Knights, Clarence Hooper, George Brackett, Wallace Vinal, Fred Ingerson and John Robshaw making up the crew.

Condition Critical

Frank H. Ingraham Suffering
From Fractured Skull,
Due To a Fall

About to enter his home on Lindsey street Tuesday night, Frank H. Ingraham slipped on the steps and fell backward onto the concrete walk.

He was taken to Knox Hospital, where the attending surgeon Dr. F. P. Brown, Sr., said that an x-ray examination revealed a fractured skull.

Mr. Ingraham has never regained consciousness and the word from the hospital just as The Courier-Gazette went to press was that his condition "remained unchanged."

Methebesec Club

Attendance At Last Meeting
Included 10 From Junior
Women's Club

The Methebesec Club met Friday night at the Universalist vestry with a large attendance of members and guests present. Mrs. H. P. Blodgett, president presided, and introduced Mrs. Philip Corey, President of the Maine Federation of Women's Club, and Mrs. Chester Clark, District Director, each making brief remarks.

There were 10 members of the Junior Women's Club present as guests of the Club.

The National Anthem of the USSR was played by Mrs. John Smith Lowe and Mrs. Irene Walker.

The book "Talks about Russia with Masha Scott" by Pearl B. Buck, was reviewed in a very interesting manner by Dr. John Smith Lowe. In his introduction, Dr. Lowe said, "The author wanted to see Russia through the eyes of a Russian."

Masha, the Russian wife of the American correspondent John Scott, now lives in New York, so she was called in by Pearl Buck to answer questions on the new Russia.

Masha told her story so well that her family, their neighbors, the workers on the collective farm established in the village in which she spent her childhood, all came thoroughly alive. "It is Masha herself, however, who stands out most appealingly against this background. Dr. Lowe asked the questions and answered them in a most entertaining manner."

In closing Mrs. Blodgett spoke of other books on Russia which she had read, all of which can be borrowed from the Public Library.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

THE SEA

The sea! the sea! the open sea!
The blue, the fresh, the ever free!
Without a mark, without a bound,
It runneth the earth's wide regions round:
It plays with the clouds; it mocks the sky;
Or like a cradled creature lies,
I'm on the sea! I'm on the sea!
I am where I would ever be:
With the blue above, and the blue below,
And silence wheresoe'er I go;
If a storm should come and awake the deep,
What matter? I shall ride and sleep.
—Bryan Waller Procter.

Book Review

K. S. F.

"A Grandma For Christmas," by Alta Halverson Seymour. The Westminster Press, Philadelphia.

Christmas in every part of the world is enchanting to alive hearts and minds; but in the land where the stars shine all day long it gives spirit and thrill to this old world's unhurried charm of Yuletide. And it is great fun to study the customs of different countries.

There is great stir and bustle of preparation for a number of days spent in holiday searching for cooking and gifts.

Everyone has some part in the Christmas work and joy of the event.

This book chances to be the story of a Norway Christmas, and the author's father was born there. She makes the realistic there and days rich in adventure. This is the story of one family. The Rocklands have a real family party for their Christmas. The story is told with charm and what is more there are given on the inside cover a list of Norwegian cookies and cakes for this festive season and they are all excellent. Look for "Grandma."

—Kathleen S. Fuller.

[EDITORIAL]

ONE THING LEWIS HAS DONE

We don't pretend to know much about the ins and out of the John L. Lewis case, except to share the common belief that to have it possible for one man to dictate the industrial affairs of the whole nation, and to plunge it into near ruin is not only an absurdity but a crime. A communication from John Mulloy, published in another column of this paper, rises to the defense of the labor leader, in part, by calling attention to what he has accomplished for the coal miners. We have always felt that if any class of labor is entitled to fancy wages, and improved working conditions, that class should be the coal miner. Doomed to spend all of his days a mile or so beneath the surface of the earth, working amid conditions which spell constant peril, and then to spend his restful hours in surroundings which were formerly described as little better than hovels, the man who makes it possible for us to keep warm in winter, and to make the wheels of industry hum, is entitled to solicitous consideration. If John L. Lewis is the man who has brought about a betterment of the miners' conditions, score one in his favor. The Lord knows he needs something to help offset the dreadful situation which he has created.

WINTER'S LAMENT—SO FAR

That one day of real winter which we experienced Monday was sufficient to remind us of what we have been escaping through the medium of a period which we are always pleased to refer to as Indian Summer. We have drawn up to the sixth day of December singularly favored, and we must now be prepared to face the rigors of what some prophets have been promising as an "old fashioned winter." To be truly old fashioned there will presently be drifts over the tops of which we cannot see, coupled with more blizzards and sub-zero temperatures. Such winters we had in the boyhood of the present writer, but which have since come only at long intervals. Two things are well to remember—inside of a few weeks the sun will be climbing higher, and we can be looking toward that corner, around which Spring lies. And—not so happy is this reflection—the 16 weeks which earmark any well regulated winter have come and gone almost before we know it.

PROLONGING THE MISERY

The trial of John L. Lewis on a contempt of court charge brought the coal czar a fine of $10,000 and to his United Mine Workers a fine of $3,500,000, both of which sentences have been appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. It will be interesting to note just what effect the miners' fine will have beyond increasing the growing hostility between the workers and the government. Meantime the dragging out of the case will serve to increase universal suffering through the suspension of industries and the day's wonted activities.

True and John Wilson, Jr., the latter completing the unfinished term of Mr. Beverage. Supper was served with Raymond Ludwig, as chairman.

Hope Grange Circle met Thursday at the hall to tack quilts. Dinner was served. Plans were made for a public supper to be held Dec. 10, with Mrs. Elsie Wilson, chairman. A social hour and card playing will follow the supper.

It's the little things in life" says wise old St. Nicholas. "Just think" ses he, "of the hours of solid comfort to be had from one of these colorful hassocks at Burpee's. They have them in all sizes, styles and prices."

Junior Women's Club

Has a Most Successful Christmas Meeting—Five Await Membership

Junior Women's Club held its Christmas meeting Monday night at the home of Mrs. Litta Vardavoulis. Mrs. Thelma Parsons, vice president, ably directed in the absence of the president.

At the business session it was heartily voted to "adopt" a family in war-devastated Greece, and this week members will leave articles of wool and leather with Mrs. Vardavoulis, who will pack and send this first worthy donation.

A concise and interesting report of the meeting with the Methebesec Club last Friday was given by Mrs. Virginia Stoddard; and Mrs. Parsons glowingly described the pleasant visit to the Twin Village Junior Women's Club in Demariscola, last week.

Color books and crayons were brought by each member and Mrs. Madeline Jackson will send these to the Home for Little Wanderers for Christmas. Any absent members desiring to give books and crayons may contact Mrs. Jackson.

Five names were voted onto the waiting list, although no vacancies exist in the club at present.

The Christmas program had as its first and always welcome participant, Mrs. Ruth Hoch, who in her splendid voice sang, by request, "O, Holy Night," and concluded with "Silent Night."

Miss Dorothy Lawry and Mrs. Vardavoulis repeated, to the delight of all, the duet they had so beautifully played

Ruth Mayhew Tent

Has a Busy Night and First Nominations of Officers Is Made

Despite the severe cold weather the meeting of Ruth Mayhew Tent Monday night was well attended.

Supper was served with Ada Payson, chairman, assisted by members Carrie House senior vice president, called the meeting to order in the absence of the president, Priscilla Smith.

Inez Packard was reported ill and Elzabeth Murray reported at home and improving.

The "Memorial Marker" is still a topic of discussion and all members are looking forward with pride to the day our dreams will be realized.

as part of the program in Demariscola. Their selection, superbly rendered, was Schubert's "The Overture" from Rosamunde.

The guest speaker, Rev. Hubert P. Leach of Thomaston, chose the old and wonderful "Christmas Carol" by Dickens to read and comment upon.

Saying, "It is a story that should be read every Christmas," he proceeded to intrigue his listeners with his unique reading and explanations of this touching story.

Rev. Leach was born in London, and was the more qualified to put his subject across.

The refreshment table was lovely with its centerpiece of red carnations and white pompons, flanked by tapers, and the tasty lunch was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Vardavoulis was assisted by Miss Dorothy Lawry and Miss Marion Ginn.

WALDOBORO

The Parent-Teacher Association will hold a Christmas party Thursday night at the High School, directed by Ernest Boggs, Andrew Peterson, Bernard Newbert and the hostesses, Mrs. Arlyn Newbert, Mrs. Gladys Hahn and Mrs. Dora Sukeforth.

Subjects of the sermons Sunday at the Baptist Church will be: In the morning, "The Value of the Bible," and in the evening, "It is hard for three to kick against the bricks."

WARREN

A Christmas sale, opening at 2 o'clock Saturday at the I.O.O.F. Hall, auspices of Mystic Retekah Lodge and Warren Lodge, I.O.O.F., will be climaxed by a baked bean supper, at 6 and 8 p. m. Proceeds will go to the building repair fund.

The final social of the season, auspices of White Oak Grange will be held Saturday with refreshments on sale. The socials will then be discontinued until Spring. Invitation is extended to an open house Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Matti Deirila, in observance of their golden wedding anniversary.

Services at the Congregational Church Sunday will be at 10:30 a. m., the sermon to be delivered by Rev. Lynn V. Farnsworth. Sunday school will meet at 9:30. The choir has planned special music for the morning service.

Rev. Lee A. Perry will speak on the topic, "Isaiah's Commission," Sunday morning at 10 o'clock following the prayer meeting at 9:45. The evening service will be at 7:30. Sunday school will meet at 11:10.

Eastern States Farmers Exchange will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. at Grange Hall. An Eastern States representative from the Springfield office will be present.

Refreshments will be served. At the Church of the Nazarene the services Sunday will consist of: Sunday School at 10; worship at 11; evangelistic meeting, 7 p. m. Prayer meeting will be Thursday at 7:30 and Young People's service Friday at 7:30.

UNION
The fellow craft degree will be conferred Monday at a special meeting of St. George Lodge, F.A.M.

The second degree will be conferred on a class of candidates tonight at Warren Lodge, I.O.O.F.

Robbins Bound Over

Deer Isle Man Charged With Murder Given Preliminary Hearing

Medical Examiner C. C. Knowlton testified Wednesday at the Ellsworth Court hearing of Isaiah Robbins, 32, charged with the murder of his brother, Ralph W. Robbins, 34, that Ralph died only a few minutes after he was struck by a shotgun discharge.

Isaiah, a Deer Isle clamdigger, pleaded innocent to the charge Nov. 29, two days after Ralph fell mortally wounded. Sheriff Norman Dyer said when he opened the door of his one-room home on the island to his brother, Isaiah contended the shooting was accidental.

Deputy Sheriff Raymond Lowe said there had been "a family row." Dr. Knowlton was questioned by County Attorney Harvard W. Blaisdell and Percy T. Clarke, defense counsel. Attorney General Ralph W. Farris was present in the courtroom, where Judge William E. Whitney presided.

Robbins was bound over to await grand jury action in April and committed to the custody of the sheriff in the interim.

STATE SOIL CONSERVATION COM-MITTEE OF MAINE

Notice of hearing upon organization of proposed Knox-Lincoln Soil Conservation District, embracing land lying in Knox and Lincoln Counties. WHEREAS, on the 15th day of November, 1946, there was duly filed in the office of the State Soil Conservation Committee at Orono, Maine, a petition signed by at least 25 land occupiers pursuant to the provisions of the Soil Conservation Districts Law, requesting the establishment of the Knox-Lincoln Soil Conservation District; and

WHEREAS, the lands sought to be included in the said district by said petition comprise all lands in Knox and Lincoln Counties. NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held pursuant to the said petition, on the question of the desirability and necessity in the interests of the public health, safety and welfare of the creation of such district; and upon all questions relevant to such inquiry. The said public hearing will be held by the State Soil Conservation Committee on the 13th day of December, 1946, beginning at 1:30 o'clock P. M., in the Town Hall in the City of Rockland, Maine, at 8:00 o'clock P. M., at the Community Building in North Nobleboro in the County of Lincoln.

All persons, firms and corporations who shall hold title to or shall be in possession of any lands lying within the limits of the above-described territory, whether as owners, lessees, renters, tenants, or otherwise, and all persons interested parties are invited to attend and will be given opportunity to be heard at the times and places hereinbefore specified. State Soil Conservation Committee, By GEORGE PINDLEN, Chairman.

Dated This 25th day of November, 1946.

Rockland Lions

When Rev. Ernest O. Kenyon, rector of St. Peter's Church and popular member of the Rockland Lions Club hies away on his annual vacation he generally seeks far horizons, so when he planned this year's travels it was with the firm conviction that they would take him across the water to the Republic of Cuba.

Fate willed otherwise, however, for after a visit with Rev. Fr. Wright, formerly of Rockland, he journeyed across lots to Kentucky and found himself in Bardonia, where lies "My Old Kentucky Home" inspiration for Stephen Foster's undying song.

Because that was to be the subject of his informal travel talk at Wednesday's meeting the Lions, with Duke Annis at the piano, sang several of Foster's songs.

Fr. Kenyon, classing himself as neither a Republican nor a Democrat, but ready to vote as his conscience dictated, told of the change which he experienced in political atmosphere since the recent Republican landslide.

The highlight of his trip was his visit to the mansion known as "My Old Kentucky Home," where he saw the harpsichord at which Stephen Foster worked out his famous melodies. "I came away," he said, his brother Lions, "with an entirely different impact after being and Mental Health." Pupils from the Knowlton street School will furnish a portion of the entertainment.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship will visit the Youth Fellowship of the Rockport Methodist Church Sunday. The meeting will begin at 7:15 and Dorothea Dymont of Camden will be the leader.

on the ground where Stephen Foster lived."

Stepping on from this background, "Pard" Kenyon studied at some length the colored problem. Across one end of his dining car he saw a curtain drawn when the lunch hour arrived, and asking as to its purpose was told that the colored passengers ate on the other side of it. He saw stores for the colored people and stores for the white people. He attended a concert where a colored star sang, and was one out of a dozen whites in the audience. The singer was marvelous and Fr. Kenyon scanned the Baltimore papers next morning to see what report they would give of the concert. He found—not one word.

"The colored problem is one of the major questions which confronts us," said the speaker.

The Club learned with much sorrow of the critical condition of another popular member, Frank H. Ingraham, who suffered a fractured skull when he fell while entering his home Tuesday night.

The speakers for the next three meetings are thus announced by Duke Annis of the entertainment committee:

Snow's Yard Is Busy

General Seafoods Shipyard is starting conversion of the AMC 110, which was built at the yard in 1942 for the Navy, to a dragger for John Bruno of T. Wharf, Boston. A sister ship, the AMC 108, is expected to arrive next week and will be converted for Eugene Marino of Gloucester.

Both craft are 98 feet 5 inches in length, have a beam of 24 feet and a draft of 10 feet 9 inches. Power is supplied by a 450 horsepower Fairbanks-Morse diesel and is capable of driving the fishermen at a 9 1/2 knot speed.

The converted craft will have a fish hold capacity estimated to be between 153,000 and 155,000 pounds. Fuel capacity will allow a 1300 mile cruising range.

The dragger, Vagabond, owned by Midwest Fish Co., of Portland, is on the marine railways for overhaul.

Follow The Trend

The regular membership meeting of the League of Women Voters, was held Nov. 26 at the home of Mrs. William D. Talbot.

With the State Program item "Taxation," the current subject for study, Mrs. Ralph Wiggin as chairman, presented as the speaker for the afternoon, Richard Thomas, Rockland's Tax Assessor, who explained our local tax situation, his subject being "Our Local Tax Structure." He told of the duties of his office—the Assessor is a State Officer operating in a municipality. He keeps the records up to date by checking weekly with the Register of Deeds. The assessor receives the budget from the City Council, then divides the tax rate from the city budget. Mr. Thomas stated that it is advisable to have an out of town appraiser come here to appraise the property—the new tax levy will become effective in 1947. An open discussion period followed.

Mrs. Wiggin is setting up plans for discussion group meetings during the month of January. Watch for the announcement of these meetings.

Mrs. Thomas Sweeney, chairman of the Probation item, explained what had already been accomplished in this department and announced that there will be a discussion group meeting held very soon this month. Watch for the date of this meeting.

We urge all who are interested in these subjects, members and non-members to come and share in the discussion.

Tea was served under the direction of the Hospitality Chairman, Mrs. Gladys Burns with Mrs. J. A. Jameson pouring. Those serving on the committee were Mrs. Jerome Burrows, Mrs. E. K. Leighton, Mrs. Robert B. Lunt and Mrs. Charles Whitmore.

A politician is all too apt to think only of the next election, but a statesman thinks of the future of our country. Notice this in the way Margaret Chase Smith works for the best interests of the country, with Maine always in her mind. A great woman is Margaret!

Keep On Trying

A little girl who had a live bantam presented to her was disappointed at the smallness of the first egg laid by the bird. Her ideal egg was that of the ostrich, a specimen of which was on a table in the drawing room. One day the ostrich's egg was missing from its accustomed place. It was subsequently found near the spot where the bantam nested, and on it was stuck a piece of paper with the words: "Something like this, please. Keep on trying."

Will Shine In Town Hall Wednesday Night In "Mrs. Tubbs of Shantytown"

Next Wednesday night at 8 o'clock in Rockport Town Hall, the curtain will go up on a hilarious comedy-drama, "Mrs. Tubbs of Shantytown," which is being presented by the Dramatic Club of Rockport High School for the benefit of the Senior class.

This is the story of everyday life in Shantytown and humor Mrs. Tubbs manages a family of four and wards off the affections of Simon Rubbels, the corner-grocery man who is also the meanest man in Shantytown. Miss Cling Vine, a mournful, fortyish old maid, furnishes a big surprise in the end. Young romance is portrayed by Tom Riordan, a census-taker and May-delle Campbell, a pretty young school-teacher. Mrs. Hickey is the town gossip and spends her time condemning Simon Rubbels. Mrs. Tubbs overcomes her troubles and chairman of the program.

Universal Bible Sunday will be observed at the First Baptist Church this Sunday with the pastor, Rev. J. Charles MacDonald, taking as his subject in the 10.30 service, "A Book of Faith for a Day of Doubt." The men's and women's prayer groups will meet preceding this service at 10.15. The Church School classes will meet for Bible study at noon. The Christian Endeavor will continue their study of the book of First John at 6 under the leadership of Barbara Clark and Alice Kinney. The 7.15 service will open with the sing-spiration and will include choir and trombone numbers. Mr. MacDonald will give his sixth message on the book of Revelation with the subject, "Results from the Vision Glorious."

Morning worship at the Congregational Church at 10.45 with Rev. Maudwyn Vaughn Parry preaching on the theme, "Sir, We Would See Jesus." The quartet will sing "Sun of My Soul" by Hastings and "Come Ye Blessed" by Scott. Church School will meet at 10 and the Nursery Department at 10.45. The Communion of the Way will meet in the vestry at 5.30 on Sunday. Monday night the Boy Scout Troop will meet in the vestry at 7 o'clock. ## Make Colonial Rugs

Warren Has a New Industry Which Interests the Women

Making of Colonial, all-wool, hand braided and sewn rugs, Warren's new industry, still but an infant, according to Earl R. Gowell of Rockport and South Portland co-owner with his mother, Mrs. Ruby R. Gowell, of the Sparhawk Mills, South Portland, is catching on fast.

Just opened, it is known as the Warren unit, and room supervisor is Mrs. Fannie Young of Thomaston, experienced rug maker of this locality. At present the unit is located on the second floor of the Report center, and already a number of good sized rugs have been completed. So far, sewing of the braids only, has been done here, completed braids of ordered colors, made by braiders in their homes, in this vicinity.

Contact with the workers and braiders is made by Mrs. Earl Gowell, who has charge of the Warren unit, which is gathering momentum fast, for women in this section are natural rug-makers, and this is the reason for the location of this first unit in Warren.

The outlook for this product is most promising, with orders to be filled from all over the United States. The rugs are custom made; that is the customer writing in a description of the general color scheme of the room as well as the size, or sending in samples of drapery material, and wall paper, of the room, for which a rug is to be made. Then Mrs. Ruby Gowell in Portland, senior members of the company, plans the design and the colors of a rug suitable for that room. Of course in some cases, other customers merely send in an order for a rug, period, without any instructions except for size.

The balance now has to be established between braiders, part time in homes, and the sewers at the Report Center, and this balance is being adjusted most satisfactorily. A fast braider, turning an eight-hour day, can easily turn out over a hundred yards of braid daily. The average home-maker, working part time, will braid between 150 and 200 yards in a week. The goal now is for sufficient braider support for 10 or 12 sewers, and this means 20, or 25 braiders in this area to work part time.

The next question is natural enough. Why not let the women do the sewing in their own homes? The answer is this, at one time small rugs, 2x3, and 4x7, were ordered, and women could easily handle them in their homes. Now orders are for the larger rugs, 9x12, 10 1/2x22, and 9 1/2x17. A sewer in her own home would be handicapped in handling such a large size, lack of room and table space. Starting with one sewer, as the rug size increases, the number of sewers on the single rug increases, speeding up and making much easier the handling of the rug which as it grows, is cumbersome for one to handle. The sewing is done on a big table, oilcloth covered, so the rug is moved easily.

Typically a Maine product, all wool materials bought from the woolen mills of Maine, are used. If the colors bought are not what is needed, the wool is dyed to all the order, this done at the South Portland plant. Cutting of the strips for the braiding, usually is left with the braider for all weights of cloth or woolen pieces is used, sometimes as heavy as 14 and 16 ounce material. The individual braider knows the quality of her braids and just what width strip she can cut to make her braids uniform in size and thickness, important factors in rug-making.

Another feature of the work, which makes it take so well among the women workers, is that they do not have to put in full days, if their own work intervenes. The work day hours are so elastic that women can put in as much or as little time as they wish, daily, according to their own schedule of work. At present some are working all day, and some come in a few hours only in the afternoons. In other words, hours are to the convenience of the sewers.

The old Sparhawk Mills of South Portland which suspended operations during the war years, have established a reputation for the finest hand made rug in the country. For instance, the mills supplied all the braided rugs for Rockefeller's Williamsburg, Va., restoration. Also the Mills have made rugs for the lodges of several movie stars—James Cagney, Andy Devine, Marion Davies and Clark Gable.

The Mills have had braiders in this section for the South Portland plant for some time. They also have workers in New Hampshire and in Massachusetts.

A brief history of the Sparhawk Mills indicates the start of this typically Maine made product, was in 1920, by the late Ernest E. Gowell, father of the present co-owner, Earl R. Gowell, who felt that colonial braided rugs would make a home-stead industry for Maine, and that

MARTINSVILLE

Charles Dwyer of Hebron was in town for the holiday week-end.

Mrs. Thankful Harris went there would always be a market for such a product, because as a background or setting of antique furniture, and other Americans, braided rugs would be so very fitting and proper, providing suitable atmosphere. At first standard patterns were made, then the sales outlet through the wholesalers. Gradually a custom-made product was demanded however, and the demand filled, for customers who wanted unique color combinations. Then the start was made on direct to consumer sales, and this step soon made Sparhawk rugs famous over the country.

In 1941 the Mills were closed, due to the war, and during which, the type of material for rug making was not available, to continue the quality of the rugs, which had previously turned out. It was in 1941 that the senior Mr. Gowell died.

Now his son, who received an honorable discharge from U. S. Army Engineers recently, after service with the port engineers for the Boston, Mass., Port of Embarkation, has taken up the torch, for sentimental reasons, if one cares to call it that. The South Portland plant at South Portland, was opened up in October and the first outside unit here in Warren started about a week ago. Mrs. Earl Gowell assisting her husband greatly with its organization.

Earl Gowell, himself, before the war, was an employee of the Central Maine Power Co. Though, just started, he is finding a great deal of satisfaction in the new venture for him at least. There is a great deal of satisfaction, he finds, in making a product, of which one can be proud. Both he and Mrs. Gowell are very happy in the work.

The Ganders Win One

But Sevens Are Convinced It's Not A Lucky Number

The big guns of the Ganders were too much for the big guns of the Skippers and the Ganders finally landed in the win column on the third try.

Doc Mills was in the lineup for the first time, but the Doc was not much help to his team for he was pushed onto the bench for next week, along with Ted MacDonald. Perhaps the Doc got his shooting eye for the pins crossed with his shooting eye for deer, for he seemed to have better luck in the woods than on the alleys, having just returned from a hunting trip with some four-legged deer.

Shields was the really big gun for the Ganders, his single of 113 and total of 299 topping all others. But the real honest to goodness hero of the match was the Hon. John Quincy Franklin Roosevelt Adams, who, on being pitted against Doc Mills, began to think he was being persecuted, but as the match went on he became better and cockier all the time until at the end, when he fouled out, he had beaten the Doc, there was no living with him. And when he got two spares right off, one of his vest buttons popped off and very nearly broke a window.

This match also saw one of the old stand-bys of the Skippers fall by the wayside, for along with Rev. Mr. M. C. "Pete" Peterson came a night off, and he will warm the bench next week while some younger man, or at least somebody with younger ideas (about bowling) takes over.

A certain air of mystery has enveloped the non-appearance of Captain Grimes in the line-up of the Ganders of late, and the question is being asked, "Why does Doc keep himself off the team so much?" Probably some unkind Skipper would remark that it is because there are so many better bowlers than he on his team he just can't make the grade, but we for one would never subscribe to this theory.

No sirree, we figure there must be something fundamentally wrong with the Captain, or he would be there pitching, win or lose, root, hog or die. Now that the Ganders have at last landed in the win column, it goes to show that the season will not be a runaway affair for the Skippers, and the Goose may perhaps see his dream of evenly matched teams come true. The score:

Ganders	81	97	72	250
McDonald	86	84	82	252
Mills	93	93	80	275
Sanborn	95	113	91	299

Total	431	462	419	1312

It Comes Eleven

That old American saying "Come seven, come eleven" seems to be going the way of a lot of other old American things for as the "Sevens" and "Elevens" meet on the Cascade Alleys it seems to be all for the Elevens.

Friday night the Elevens took another game from the Sevens by 32 pins, 30 of which were garnered in the last string. The 7s (it's much easier writing figures) took the first string by 18, but the 11s came back to take the second by 20, and from then on slowly worked into their final lead of 32.

Les Dyer's 119 for single and 297 for total was the high score of the evening, while the best 7s ace, Doc Lyford, could do was to place 290 for second position. Staffy Smith of the 11s had a grudge match on with "Baish" Dexter of the 7s, which resulted in another beating for Baish. Baish said he didn't mind getting a beating, but he did object to getting his shins all black and blue from Staffy's sideswiping kicks. Every time Staffy rolled a good looking ball he tried to help it knock the pins down by a vicious side kick, and while its effect at the far end of the alley was doubtful, there was no doubt as to its effect at the approach, for sometimes it would knock the balls off the rack onto Baish's feet, much to that gentleman's consternation and dismay, not to mention his pain and grief, and sometimes it would land directly on Baish's shins. Which neither improved his temper or his bowling. And one particular time Staffy kicked so high, wide and handsome he straddled the runway and had to be extricated from his predicament by all hands. Baish says he is either going to bring down a pair of hobbles for Staffy, or a pair of shinguards for himself. But Baish won't have to worry next week, for his low of 235 puts him on the bench, while one of the subs is called in to take over.

Cap't Bucky Warren of the 11s also fell by the wayside and will have to direct his team from the sidelines next week. Next week's match between these two teams is set for Tuesday night, and barring fire, floods, earthquakes and other acts of God, the boys will be there to bowl for fun, money or chewing tobacco. The score:

Sevens	91	109	90	290
Lyford	79	82	74	235
Dexter	85	82	82	249
C. Smith	82	84	91	257
S. Davis	81	97	96	274
F. White	418	444	433	1295

Elevens	87	84	91	262
F. Swanson	77	87	98	262
S. Smith	82	119	96	297
L. Dyer	77	85	101	263
G. Swanson	77	89	77	243
B. Warren	400	464	463	1327

Pick And Shovel

Will Give Way To Machines In Potato Harvesting, Says Albert Gardner

State Agricultural Commissioner A. K. Gardner said in Lewiston Tuesday night that "low cost labor is not the answer to low cost production on our Maine farms." In a speech at the Maine State Grange's annual convention, Gardner added: "As time goes on, we will pay labor more per day, but it will be to skilled labor that is capable of operating machines rather than using the pick and shovel."

"There are many possibilities in mechanization... which will affect our labor situation."

Gardner predicted that improvements in farm machinery "will mean that our potato crop can be harvested without the importation of large numbers of laborers from outside the State," adding: "There should be no need for a labor program such as we have had during the past few years. The job will be done more quickly and with a minimum of injury to the tubers."

"If I were to forecast the developments in agriculture in the future, I would say that more and more attention would be devoted to the production of varieties, breeds and strains which are valuable from the standpoint of from the health standpoint. In other words, I doubt if yields per acre, gains per day, pounds of milk per cow or eggs per hen will be the sole criterion of successful research."

Asserting "considerable money" should be expended on farms "to bring about conditions which will not only prove more economical in their operation but will tend to influence our boys and girls to make farming their life's occupation," Gardner added:

"The farmers of two or three generations hence must be convinced now that the future in agriculture is as bright as in the future in other occupations."

"In any case, rebuilding and renovation of homes is a 'must' project, if we are to make a farm home comfortable, easy cared for and attractive to the children."

Referring to a recent livestock industry study, Gardner said "results today would indicate that good pastures in Maine will produce beef with a competitive cost and of a quality which compares favorably with that of western beef."

Gardner said Maine's record potato crop of 3.5 year "resulted in part from an increased acreage, in part from reasonably favorable weather, but, by and large, from a more or less general and continued use of DDT."

House Of The Month

You'll find new joy in living as the proud possessor of The Lenox, another House - of - the - Month. Skillfully planned to offer the utmost in comfort and convenience, this delightful little one story dwelling with its three bedrooms is adequate for a moderate sized family.

Eighteen windows, with a complete corner of five in each of the larger bedrooms help to flood this compact plan with an abundance of light and air. In addition, a complete wall of glass at one end of the living room creates the feeling of spaciousness for it merely serves to separate this room from the great outdoors... the cement block terrace shielded from the street by vine covered lattice work. A barbecue grille increases the pleasure of this out-of-doors living area, ideal for entertaining and down-to-earth relaxation.

Returning to the living room by one of the two doors flanking the glazed area, we find a decorative wood-burning fireplace which on chilly evenings will radiate heat to all areas and substitute for the main heating unit. The front and back walls of this room offer unbroken space for various arrangements of furniture.

Adjoining is a kitchen, of the most modern type which also affords a complete dining space with a triple window overlooking the street. A partial projector which extends from the line of the roof above these windows continues on to form a shield for the main entry thereby lending an added touch to a picturesque exterior.

The sleeping quarters, three in all, have been placed to the rear to gain slumber privacy and a view of the garden. The master bedroom, large enough for twin beds, or a double one, has two closets and another for linens in the adjoining hall. A modern bath at the end of the hall conveniently serves all rooms.

The Rockland Loan and Building Association, sponsoring this House-of-the-Month in the interest of promoting better houses in Knox County, is offering colored sketches of this and many other Houses-of-the-Month to all those interested in building or owning a home of their own. Detailed 1/4" scale blueprints, specifications with alternatives and a complete bill of materials are available for inspecting.

Loves The Tropics

Ivy B. Carlson, WAAC, Tells
Of Life In the Canal ZoneSomewhere on the Caribbean Sea, Oct. 15.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Well here I am, almost at the end of my journey. I have flown from the East to the West, been in Mexico City and every State, but two, but I think I have enjoyed this trip most on the "Admiral H. T. Mayo," down here to the Caribbean, where I now am sitting upon the boat deck watching the flying fish, a beautiful sky and a cool breeze.

Only once or twice since we started, have we seen any rain. We caught a glimpse of Jamaica and a lighthouse on the port side; that's all and we have passed but two ships. But these moonlight nights, oh! seas and tropic breezes. Oh! boy! am I glad I joined the WACS, I could never have made all of the wonderful trips if I hadn't, and although I have worked very hard, and sometimes very long hours, it has all been worth it.

We have four girls to a state-room, lovely lockers, dressers, shower baths, electric fans, place to press our clothes, nice mess hall and everyone has used us fine.

Last night we had a show on the open deck, also movies, and were allowed to stay up until 10:30. Usually 10 o'clock is our bed check. We were allowed to mix with both G.I.s and Marines until 10:30 for the first time since the trip began. We can be down on promenade deck with soldiers from 10:30 to 6 p. m. There was a bunch of boys from Tennessee who play several instruments and we had a lot of music and singing. We play cards, etc.

We each draw guard duty and it looks funny to see a WAC M. P. walking the guard with a soldier M. P.

We expect to land about 8 in the morning then it will take us about eight or nine hours to go through the locks. This ship has been making about 20 knots an hour.

It is a pretty clean little ship. We have 108 WACS, and about 250 G. I.s aboard besides the crew.

All is now excitement they say we will reach the harbor of Balboa, near Panama, in about 3 p. m. I am anxious to see how my new home is going to look.

T. S. Ivy B. Carlson,

Port Clayton, Canal Zone,

October 2.

It is a large harbor and after five days it looked good to us to see all the friendly lights.

It's like Paradise, puts me in mind of the mountains just outside of Mexico City, but much more tropical and wild. We were around several hours going through the locks which was very interesting.

When we landed in Balboa the band and important officials greeted us. The WACS had arrived and what a welcome! We marched about five blocks to the beautiful barracks, like Grand Central Station.

For one week we were under quarantine, then the fun began. We have been swamped with dances, parties, dinners and entertainments until we were about worn out.

We went to work immediately after getting out of quarantine. I went into the Bastle on the Hill, as the beautiful black and white hospital is called. The whole inside is black and white marble and tiles. Such facilities I never saw. Two of us they call us Scotty and Happy, work on the O. B. Ward. They are expecting around 150 new babies here before Christmas. They come in bunches, twins and triplets. But I love my work. We were the only two WACS that volunteered to work on this ward. No other WACS wanted to, but it is a good deal. We go to work in the mornings and come home nights the same way.

We have been 58 miles out to a wonderful beach and I got a dreadful sunburn. I am just getting over it. We have beautiful coconut palms along our streets and all around the barracks. We have heat closets for our clothes to keep them from mildew. It has rained almost every day since we landed but we are getting used to it. The sun shines plenty, too, and is plenty hot. It doesn't seem like November in this hot climate. Over half of us are being initiated into the American Legion at Hotel Ligon with the Governor of Panama and a General and other high ranking officers as guests. The V.P.W. is giving us a dinner dance tomorrow night. We were on sightseeing tour of Old Panama the first Sunday we got here. New Panama is very modern. Already we are getting acclimated and liking the place. I'm getting to considering it as home for a long time.

We have two monkeys and a puppy in the barracks and when we went to Palm Beach the other Sunday we saw a sloth trying to cross the road, so we got out of the car and assisted him, pushing him with poles. Then there are a lot of home bears that are always out at night. Oh! like the tropics.

I work 12 hours straight every other day and six the other days. It is sure rugged but I love it.

I. B. C.

HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

Compiled and edited by the Typewriting Department.

Miss Nichols' 7-4 Reading Class enjoyed an interesting collection of souvenirs from foreign lands, shown and explained to them by William Warren, a member of the class. Cards and pictures of interesting places in the United States, coal from the Southwest Pacific, chop-sticks from the Mariannas, cloth and kerchief from Hawaii, the Gospel of St. John in the Philippines, a Japanese-English dictionary, cards and pictures from Gualaacanal and the Solomon, lava from an Hawaiian volcano, a bandana from Sicily, matches from Algeria, a handkerchief from Normandy, a piece of a parachute from England, and many cards depicting scenes in Scotland and around Belfast, Ireland, scissors and tobacco pouch from South America were among the articles shown. Elizabeth Fowle called attention to a blue wool shirt jacket decorated with dragons which she was wearing. The class also enjoyed the Shanghai Chinese Christmas cards which had been received from China were also on exhibit.

The Junior High assembly, Wednesday, was supervised by class 8-2, taught by Mr. Adams. The program: Morning exercises, "The Young Truth or Consequences" written and directed by Jean Moran, with these contestants: Jeanine Leach, John Bohn, Alice Crie, Billy Schofield, Billy McLoon, Christine Roberts, Richard Burby, Mr. Talbot, Janet Weymouth, Emory Howard. The stage hands, Robert Leghorn, Ernest Benner, Ralph Wells, and Ronald Tolman; in charge of wardrobe were Joan Clough, Wanda Eradbury, and Beulah Pough. Copy girl was Mildred Sherman.

Five delegates from Senior High, supervised by Miss Gray, teacher of Problems of Democracy, left at 8 a. m., with Harold Look at the wheel, to attend the Junior Legislative Session in Augusta. The fortunate delegates were Harold Look, Charles Van Fleet, Thomas Smith, Mary Sawyer, and Kathryn Stevens.

The group from his school participated in the committee meetings in the morning on the bill relating to State Employees' Retirement System to Include Public School Teachers, and the Consolidation Bill. Ninety-five boys and girls from 21 Maine secondary schools attended, several of them being veterans. Other schools participating were Bangor High, Bar Harbor, Bridgton, Brunswick, Bucksport, Clinton, Cony, Deering, Jay, John Baptist, Lawrence, Morse, Old Orchard Beach, Rockport, Scarborough, Waterville, and Wells High Schools and Fryeburg and Lincoln Academies. Richard Foster of Bar Harbor was chosen as "governor" from a field of seven candidates by secret ballot. The sessions were under the sponsorship of the Soial Studies Department of the M.T.A. Mrs. Horace A. Hildreth spoke at new babies here before Christmas. They come in bunches, twins and triplets. But I love my work. We were the only two WACS that volunteered to work on this ward. No other WACS wanted to, but it is a good deal. We go to work in the mornings and come home nights the same way.

We have been 58 miles out to a wonderful beach and I got a dreadful sunburn. I am just getting over it. We have beautiful coconut palms along our streets and all around the barracks. We have heat closets for our clothes to keep them from mildew. It has rained almost every day since we landed but we are getting used to it. The sun shines plenty, too, and is plenty hot. It doesn't seem like November in this hot climate. Over half of us are being initiated into the American Legion at Hotel Ligon with the Governor of Panama and a General and other high ranking officers as guests. The V.P.W. is giving us a dinner dance tomorrow night. We were on sightseeing tour of Old Panama the first Sunday we got here. New Panama is very modern. Already we are getting acclimated and liking the place. I'm getting to considering it as home for a long time.

We have two monkeys and a puppy in the barracks and when we went to Palm Beach the other Sunday we saw a sloth trying to cross the road, so we got out of the car and assisted him, pushing him with poles. Then there are a lot of home bears that are always out at night. Oh! like the tropics.

I work 12 hours straight every other day and six the other days. It is sure rugged but I love it.

Are You Over 60?

Past President of Townsend
Club Tells What May Be In Store For You

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

As a past president of Rockland Townsend Club No. 1, and interested in the older people of my city and country I write this article which I know will be of interest to hundreds of men and women 60 years of age and over, and to those young people who expect to reach 60 and want security in their old age, and a chance to live in peace and comfort after years of labor and strife.

The Townsend plan, when it becomes a law, would do this. It would pay $100 a month to each of over 15,000,000 persons. To be eligible for Townsend plan annuities, a man or woman must have reached the age of 60 and must agree to retire from gainful employment, or must be blind or crippled, or must be a mother with dependent minor child.

Any annuitant must give up gainful employment so long as he or she receives the annuity and must agree to spend the entire sum within 30 days following its receipt. Business prosper and depressions will be a thing of the past, for this constant stream of new purchasing power is pumped each month over the counters of the nation's merchants. Labor will prosper because as these 15,000,000 potential buyers of goods and services are taken off the labor market, wages for the remainder of the labor force inevitably will rise and stay high.

The measure calls for federal imposition of a 3 percent tax each month on all income in excess of all businesses, corporations and partnerships, and a 3 percent tax on that portion of an individual's income in excess of $100 per month. An individual whose earnings total $150 per month would pay a tax on $50 or $150 per month.

The Townsend plan in the last elections recommended candidates to Congress from 233 districts, and elected Townsend plan friends from 178 districts, which goes to show that the Townsend plan will be heard from in the 80th Congress.

Our Club No. 1, under the leadership of President Clarence Dorman, has been very successful the past year, and having been re-elected and installed for another year, we are in high hopes of increasing the number of our members, to have more speakers and better programs, more and better entertainments in the coming year.

Every person in Rockland, between the ages of 18 and 100 should be a member of this club, remembering that we will be old some day. The Club meets the first and third Thursday of each month at Grand Army Hall, Limerock street. The public is cordially invited to attend our meetings and to learn of our plan and our wonderful business sessions.

A Word For Lewis

But Mr. Mulloy Predicates It On What Has Been Done For the Miner

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— In the trial of John L. Lewis the Court seems to have uncovered the miner in the anti-injunction law. If this law is unworkable against the Government, all that is necessary for an incorporation to do is to have Mr. Truman take the plant over in the name of the Government, hoist the Stars and Stripes, put the operators of the plant on the payroll of the Government. The employees must then return to work, the operators of the plant proceed as before and pocket whatever profits are made.

Thus the leaders of the New Deal Party have found a way to force involuntary servitude on the working men and women of the United States and make them like it. And they have done this while masquerading as friends of labor.

Everyone seems to condemn John L. Lewis for allowing the miners to go on strike. It will do no harm to look at the miners' side of the story. No one will deny that John L. Lewis knows mining from A to Z. He gained his knowledge while dressed in overalls, a miner's cap and lamp on his head, by toiling and sweating in the dirt and grime of a coal mine by working 10 hours a day for $1.60 a day. He knows that at many of the mines the operating Company owns the house in which the miner lives and for which the miner pays high rent. The operating Company furnishes the electric current that lights the house. For this the miner pays plenty. The company also furnishes the fuel and for this the miner pays a good price.

The company also owns and operates the store at which the miner must purchase most of his supplies and the prices the miner must pay would make a black market operator blush and he knows that each time the miner gets a raise in his pay, all these things that he must buy from the coal company increase in price.

He also knows that when the miner puts his lunchbox with its cold lunch under his arm in the morning, puts his miners' cap and lamp on his head and goes into the mine, no one knows whether he will return home on his own feet, on a stretcher or in a coffin. He knows men are carried out of the mines on stretchers every day and on account of these great dangers no insurance company will insure the life of a miner.

And until Mr. Lewis forced the mining companies to create a fund for miners' insurance and put five cents for each ton of coal mined into it, the only help a miner's

No Large Catches

Are Expected When the Scallop Season Opens Sunday Morning

The Maine scallop season gets underway Sunday morning, and Sea and Shore Fisheries officials estimate that approximately 50 boats will start harvesting the scarce but succulent mollusks. The principal activity will take place along the Washington and Hancock county coasts with smaller numbers of boats operating in Knox, Cumberland and other waters.

Department officials state that prices will be comparatively high, but catches are not expected to be large due to the limited numbers of known beds now producing along the Maine coast. Last year fishermen took a total of 106,000 pounds valued at $40,000.

Coastal scallop fishing has lost its importance that it commanded 20 years ago when the mollusks were plentiful from Kittery to Eastport and especially numerous on the famed Penobscot Bay beds. Despite the decline of this valuable activity, no one has to find a scientific or biological reason for the extinction of prolific beds has ever been made, according to officials who believe that "such negligence of a natural resource was tragic."

family ever had when the miner was crippled or taken away was a collection taken up by the miners, and other forms of charity.

These things are embossed on the brain of Mr. Lewis and can never be erased and he has dedicated his life to improving the condition of the miner and his family. He is asking the operators of the mines to put another five cents for each ton of coal mined into the miners' insurance fund and that the miners be allowed to work 48 hours per week instead of the 54 or 58 hours that they now work. Also that they receive the same pay that they now receive if these things were granted. The cost of producing a ton of coal would not be increased more than 25 cents.

If our officials would spend as much time and money in an attempt to solve the miners' trouble, as they are spending in an attempt to break and destroy John L. Lewis, there would not have been a miners' strike and we would not have had this terrible and expensive industrial upheaval.

Mr. Lewis has accomplished much in improving the condition of the miner and his family and I am sure every honest member of organized labor will stand behind him.

A group of Norwegian skiers plan a tour of Canada this winter. They will include Birger Rued and Reidar Anderson.

Three Men Change

New Areas Assigned To Officials Of Central Maine Power Company

Speaking of recent personnel changes in the Central Maine Power Company, "The Exciter" says:

Nov. 4 Bob Hudson was transferred from Augusta to Rockland as assistant division manager of the Eastern Division. Born and raised in Providence, Rhode Island, Bob attended Northeastern University and special lighting schools in Boston where he also worked for a firm of lighting engineers before joining Central Maine in September, 1935. His first assignment with the Company was as a lighting engineer in Rockland, where he met and married Mary Bird of that city in 1936. A year later he was named director of the lighting division and moved to Augusta. The Hudsons and their two daughters will live in Rockland after the first of the coming year.

Nov. 12 Lloyd Benner became director of the newly created electrical installation division of the Commercial department at Augusta. This position has been created to furnish advice on the complexities of inside wiring regulations. Lloyd is a native of Thomaston and a graduate of the Rockland public school system, and the Rockland Commercial College. He joined the Company at Rockland in 1916 and has extensive experience in the field of inside wiring. In 1932 he was transferred to Brunswick as district superintendent. His wife, the former Marjory Weston, is also a native of Thomaston. The Benners are the parents of two children and plan to live in Augusta as soon as accommodations can be found.

Laton Jackson assumed the post of district superintendent of the Brunswick district Nov. 12. Laton was born in Bath and graduated from Morse High School and from the University of Maine in the class of 1922. He left a Pennsylvania engineering firm in 1928 and joined Central Maine as a division engineer, working out of various offices throughout the system until he was appointed assistant division manager of the Eastern Division. While at the University of Maine, Laton not only roomed with John Barnard for three years, but he also met his wife, the former Lois Mantor of Skowhegan, who was a student there. The Jacksons have two daughters, the eldest being a student at the Chamberlain School in Boston. They expect to move to Brunswick sometime next year.

Weeds still in the garden in the Fall should be pulled at once and thrown on the compost pile.

A Talented Daughter

And Mrs. Claude Hinds Ows
It To Her Rockland Parents and Grandparents

A publication well known to New Jerseyites as "Oranges and Montclair," contains in the November issue the following article about Mrs. Claude E. Hinds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Shaw, formerly of Rockland.

The average woman endowed with husband, home, and family is too effectively caught in the domestic mesh to consider other activities. An occasional bridge game with the club, an even more occasional shopping and theatre spree in New York are the usual frills to the routine.

Mrs. Claude E. Hinds of 47 Curtis Place, Short Hills, has apparently never been informed of these universal strictures on a woman's time. A dabbler in the arts, she is a past president of the Millburn and Short Hills Arts Center—an energetic and enthusiastic group that should have more community prototypes—and was an active person indeed in her own marriage. She was christened Wynne Shaw in Rockland, Maine, one of a long line of Mainers on both sides. And the artistic bent was ready-made on the rock-bound coast. Her grandmother was an accomplished, if private, pianist, and her great-uncle was William Partridge Burpee the painter.

Her family moved to East Orange while she was still in grammar school and she graduated from East Orange High School. After graduation, she sampled one of suburban life's greatest ills—commuting—while she attended Parsons' School of Fine and Applied Arts in New York. Painting and interior decoration each took their share of her attention. She served a one-year apprenticeship in an interior decorating studio in New York and then turned to Europe, where she studied painting in Portugal and traveled through Spain and France.

Upon her return she took the job of stylist in window display at Bamberger's for four years and continued to spend her summers in Europe. By then photography had become a fascinating hobby, and she wandered around the continent snapping pictures. After her four years with Bamberger's windows, she moved into the interior decorating department of the same store, working up model rooms and houses for public display.

One evening, home from work, she met Claude Hinds at a bridge party in East Orange, and they began to uncover a series of mutual interests. He also was a full-blooded Mainier, and had spent his childhood in Rockland with Wynne none the wiser. Their only major point of divergence was professional. He was not an artist, either fine or applied, but an engineer with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. They married.

Delighted with the informal communal atmosphere of their town, they live in a charming home comfortably and tastefully furnished with the art of the interior decorator in the family. They have one son, Robert, who is seven and attending the third grade classes at Buxton County Day School. The pride of his parents' existence, Bobbie is clever for his years and at the age of three and one-half had an interest in electricity that had him toddling to neighbors' houses in a quest for broken cords and plugs that received their repair at his hands. His creative ability, which all children have in some degree, is probably greater than most.

The Hinds hadn't been in Short Hills long before the young Arts Center attracted Wynne's interested attention. Now in its seventh year, the organization was formed by a group of artists in the Wyoming section who started it as a kind of social clearing house for creative ideas. Perhaps 24, they included Van Deering Perrine, Stanley Turnbull, Ruth Matthews and Lute Pease.

From these more or less professional beginnings, it has grown into a community affair of 200 members, professional and amateur alike. The title "Arts Center" is properly plural. Lovers of music, the dance photography, are as welcome as those who sketch and paint. Mrs. Hinds was the second president, and the third, E. Dayton Jones, former recreational director of the community, is now in charge. Some of their activities have become almost traditional. The Village Festival, now three years old, is based on the old New England custom of exhibiting community work. Held in Taylor Park in Millburn, it is a spring display of art

IS PROUD OF HER DOG

Judy Campbell, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Campbell of Rockland was on hand at the arrival of the 11 a. m. train a few mornings ago to meet a very special friend of hers, in the form of a lively wire-haired terrier which was to be hers just as soon as he was out of the crate.

Won by the Rockland office of Swift & Co. in a national sales contest on Swift's Dog Meal, the pup was awarded to Judy, whose father is a Swift salesman. The Rockland office had the highest sale volume on the product in New England for the contest.

Judy is shown as manager Gill Gray of Swift's presented her with the pup which will be registered as "Judith's Pardon" which has a family tree of nine Grand Champions to live up to.

From The Exciter

Lots Of Interesting Gossip
About the Busy Central Mainers

In the first eight months of 1946 the nine-man Rockland Service Department completed a total of 3210 service calls and covered 17,969 miles in doing so. With their three trucks Carroll Merrill's crew serviced Rockland, Camden, Waldoboro, Friendship, Jefferson, St. George, Tenant's Harbor, Clark Island, Owl's Head, Spruce Head, Thomaston, Warren, Hope, Union, Liberty, Washington, Seasmont, Lincolnville, and Rockport, a large area indeed.

At the same time, this group delivered all major appliances which were sold, and installed a large number of commercial units. In a period when severe shortages not only created difficulties in obtaining repair parts for appliances, but also produced manpower and auto-motive problems, the Rockland Service Department performed an outstanding job.

They have loaned motors, refrigerators, condensing units and have invented many ingenious devices and repairs to keep customers satisfied. In fact, where it was impossible to do anything else, they have even hauled ice to keep a family's food from spoiling until repairs could be made on their refrigerator. In return, the Service Department has received countless expressions of appreciation from customers who have benefited from their skill and ingenuity.

The value of their service to the company is readily apparent. Not only have they done fine public relations work in providing excellent customer service, but they also have placed thousands of kilowatt hours back on line in the shortest possible time.

Vacations the past month have included many of the Rockland personnel. L. E. Jones with his wife and son, Ed took a motor trip to Virginia; Carroll Merrill and Lawrence Leach and Clark Staples of the Service Department have been on vacations. Ray McFarland has been hunting and camping with son Bruce; Percy Williams took time out to paint his house; George Doak and Alton Foster activities from the schools and artists of the area.

The Millburn Musicals sponsored by the group is a concert of local musicians. The money collected goes into scholarships for promising talent. The last winner was Donald Nold, a Millburn boy who is now studying at Juilliard.

"Night in Bohemia," last year's communal attempt to "have fun with art" was started by Mrs. Hinds and may be revised slightly this year. It is an evening of professional demonstration on the stage by professionals and dabbling in the pit by amateurs. Tables are set up for dabblers in everything from finger painting to Christmas card designing, and professionals offer their assistance where needed. The activity, like all the activities of the Center, was created in hope of being art from its professional pedestal to a community basis. Serving the Center is thus not only indulging a fascinating pastime, but promoting a fine ideal.

The Sales Tax

Voters Should Stamp Heels
On This Shylock Business
Says Averill

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

A sales tax is being proposed for Maine cities. A sales tax is a heavy tax on the poor taxpayer and a light assessment on the wealthy taxpayer. The sponsors of the sales tax do not admit this. They say that the wealthy buyer who buys 10 times as much taxable goods as the poor buyer, pays 10 times as much tax which is a fair proposition. But those who offer this argument forget that the poor buyer spends all of his income for taxable goods and accordingly pays a sales tax on his entire income, while the wealthy buyer may spend only one-tenth of his income on taxable goods and pay a sales tax on only one-tenth of his income.

An example will show who pays the great bulk of the sales tax. Suppose 1000 workers earn and spend $1000 each during the year. Each worker and his family will eat three meals each day (if they have good luck) and all of them will eat 3000 meals each day. If each worker has two pairs of shoes, all will have 2000 pairs. If each worker consumes six tons of coal a year, all will consume 6000 tons of coal.

On the other hand, a multi-millionaire who has an income of $1,000,000 has an income which is equal to the income of the 1000 workers. But he will eat only three meals a day and pay a sales tax on three meals while the workers will pay a tax on 3000 meals. The millionaire will like-wise pay a tax on two or more shoes while the workers pay on 2000 pairs. He may pay a tax on 30 tons of coal to heat his great mansion, while the workers will pay a tax on 6000 tons of coal to heat their shacks.

Let the rate of the sales tax be 3%. Then each worker would pay a tax of $30 each year or $30,000 for all of them. (The workers would spend their income and pay a tax on it). If the millionaire should pay the tax on his entire income he would pay a tax of $30,000, which is just equal to the tax on the 1000 workers. Now, as President Roosevelt during the war, called to $25,000, he considered that such an amount would cover the necessary expenses of the richest household.

So it will be a fair estimate to assume that $30,000 will cover the living expenses of our multi-millionaire. This $30,000 then, which is only 3 percent of his income, is what he spends for goods that are subject to a sales tax. Accordingly he pays a sales tax on 3 percent of his income, while the 1000 workers pay a sales tax on 3 percent of his income while the 1000 workers pay a sales tax on 100 percent of their income. The 1000 workers pay $30,000 out of their $1,000,000 income while the millionaire pays $900 out of his $1,000,000 income. The workers pay 33 1/3 times as much sales tax as the millionaire.

The people have thrown this sales tax gold brick out of the legislative window several times. Now they should stamp their heels on this shylock, pound-of-flesh business so hard that it will never come to life again; $30 out of the workers' income is two tons of coal out of the bin, two month's rent out of the baby's bottle. Suppose they just hang on to that, cut out all sales taxes, and clamp down a 90 percent income tax on the $1,000,000 income of the millionaire. The State will lose $30,000 worth of milk out of the baby's bottle but to make up for it, they will get $900,000 out of the trough of the millionaire hog. That will be 30 times the coal, house-rent and milk saved for the people who work for their money. Also the tycoon will have $100,000 left to keep him out of the almshouse.

If the tax "experts" who were imported into our legislature to put this job did not come direct from the office of the National Association of Manufacturers and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, then they smoke the same brand of cigars at the same club banquets and drink to each other's health at the same cocktail luncheon. There is some 4 percent of the monopoly corporations who own 85 percent of the national wealth. They are the people to pay the taxes. They are trying to unload on the people.

Famous House Going

Buxton Residence In Warren
Is Being Moved To Newcastle

The Dr. Benjamin F. Buxton house, and stable on Buxton Hill, in the village, is being razed for John Throckmorton, engineer of the Petro Chemical Company of New York. After being razed, carefully marked, the house will be restored to its original form, so far as is possible, and placed on a site about a mile and one half from Newcastle, on the River road to Boothbay Harbor.

Added to the house in its new location, will of course be a modern heating plant, and other conveniences, which it now lacks, for the comfort of the Throckmorton family, which will occupy it. Summers, and finally will make it their year-round home. Mr. Fraser expects it to be completed in its new location some time next Fall.

The stable has been completely taken down and will be set up in Newcastle immediately to house the parts of the dwelling, which next will be taken down. Four men constitute the crew in Warren, and three in Newcastle, so far. Men of the Warren crew will work inside the house during the winter months, to remove all inside finish, as chair rails, base boards, fireplaces. Part of the finish shows marks of the marks of being hand planed, the old fashioned way. The staircase, circular spiral type, has hand carving and is very beautiful, as is the doorway, which has over it, a huge fan of glass, a cap that is carved, and the usual sidelights. Practically every room has a fireplace, and even the marble facing will be taken over, as well as the granite blocks of the underpinning.

The house has a most interesting history, which makes it one of the outstanding places historically in Warren, having been built in 1790 for a Mr. McLean. Jefferson Davis slept, in the middle 1860's, in the northeastern bed room on the second floor, while visiting Dr. Benjamin F. Buxton, second owner of the house, and Mrs. Throckmorton has in her possession, that bed, a fine four poster of the pineapple type.

Adding color to the atmosphere of the fine old place, was its second owner, Dr. Buxton, who practiced the medical profession in this town, for nearly a half century, 48 years to be exact, between 1828, and to his death in 1876. Son of Dr. Edmund Buxton, he was very active in the establishment of the Maine General Hospital, Portland, for at that time, he was appointed by the Maine Medical Association to solicit funds for the hospital.

In the Civil War, Dr. Benjamin Buxton was appointed surgeon of the 5th Regiment of Maine Infantry, and was taken prisoner at Bull Run. However, he was well treated by rebel authorities, as it turned out, and many believed that it was through the friendship with Jefferson Davis, that this happened.

Following his capture, he assisted with the care of their wounded, and was released or exchanged. He resigned in January, 1863. He was active politically, also, and in 1861, was Representative of the town. He was an ardent supporter of the Democratic party, and the story goes, that a suitor of one of his daughters, coming one night to seriously talk matrimony, was turned away at the door for the young lady and her father had disapproved the young man was a Republican.

Dr. Buxton earned a fine reputation as doctor, and was recognized as one of the most successful surgeons in the State. He seemed to have time for other matters outside his profession, also, for Dr. Buxton's Warren sets out in 1846, the fact that Dr. Buxton supervised in that year, the rebuilding of the eastern abutment of the village bridge, which was made of rock slabs, blasted from the cliff on the eastern end of the bridge.

Following the medical tradition, Dr. Buxton died while starting out at noon, Oct. 8, 1876, to visit a sick child, suffering his third attack of paralysis. Very fond of horses, it was his favorite sport, horses which drew the bier to its last resting place.

The mansion has not been occupied since 1927, vacant since the death that year of his youngest surviving daughter, Inez, who was in her 90's. It was owned for a few years by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simmons, and a few years later sold to Mr. Throckmorton, who had planned to move it a number of years ago.

It is of interest that Dr. and Mrs. Buxton were parents of three daughters, Alice, who married George Wyllie of Oyster River, Warren; Josephine and Inez, who remained unmarried, and one son, Clifford, who was a civil engineer, following graduation from the Van Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, of Troy, N. Y. He was civil engineer at the time the Knox-Lincoln Railroad bed was laid out between Rockland and Bath.

The fine antique furnishings of the house, including a secretary desk, a parlor suite, and dishes, are in the possession of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Simmons, with the exception of the four-poster bed, in which Jefferson Davis once slept. Originally built in the shape of a T, with the top of the T facing East Main street additions were made on each side of the T, to make additional room to the house, with five big rooms, and pantry; also bathroom on the third floor, four bedrooms in the main house upstairs and four in the ell, built 75 years ago.

Grange Master Goss

An Abstract Of His Annual Address Before the National Organization

The abundance of farm production which contributed so greatly to the winning of the war must not be allowed to impoverish its producers in peacetime. Albert S. Goss, Master of the National Grange, told the 80th annual session of America's oldest farm organization in Portland, Oregon.

Goss outlined to delegates from 36 states representing more than 750,000 farm members a broad program for maintaining world peace, stabilizing the national economy, and providing a sound post-war program of balanced abundance that would protect consumers against shortages and farmers against ruinous prices.

"Weather permitting, it is probable that the American farmer will continue to raise crops in approximately the present volume," Goss said. "When the rest of the world returns to normal conditions this will present a most serious problem."

This huge production of food, feed and fibers—now one-third above pre-war averages—if wisely used can become a boon to mankind rather than a curse to its producers, Goss added. We must increase consumption rather than reduce production, he said.

For 20 years prior to 1940 the problem of food surplus was such that not once did farm prices reach parity. Now, we find ourselves facing the same farm problem we have faced for 25 years, aggravated by the extremely high production developed during the war and the extremely low purchasing power of those nations who would ordinarily be the logical customers for our surpluses," Goss said.

He declared that despite the price supports guaranteed on most farm commodities for two years after official end of the war, unless we reduce production or find some practical means for marketing our surpluses before those two years expire "agriculture will suffer a severe deflation."

The issue, he said, is the same as it has been for years: "Shall American agriculture be a self-supporting industry with fair living standards, or will it have to be subsidized or forced to the pleasant living standards of much of the rest of the world?"

Goss saw three major approaches to the surplus problem. These he outlined as follows: "1. Let nature take its course, with surpluses forcing lower prices which will in turn retard production. Following such a course led to the collapse following World War I.

"2. Reduce production by acreage controls to prevent surpluses. This leads to regimented economy of scarcity hard to defend.

"3. Recognize that plentiful production is in the public interest; that if we are to be assured of plenty, we cannot avoid occasional surpluses; and that we must make use of the surpluses in a manner to prevent their destroying their producers through diverting them to inferior uses."

Goss reviewed both the international and domestic proposals for meeting the problem of agricultural surpluses. In the international field he said both the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations and the International Federation of Agricultural Producers, organized last spring in London, have recognized the problem of impending surpluses.

"Both recognize," he said, "that the world needs all we can produce, and both deplore the possibility of reducing production as a means of defending the farmer against ruinously low prices. Both recognize the need for stabilizing prices so that the producer of the abundance which the world needs will not be destroyed by the abundance distributed through an uneconomic marketing system."

"Both recognize that basically this problem of surplus foodstuffs should be met at the international level. Should this be accomplished we will have solved the most difficult portion of our farm problem, one which kept the American farmer in a state approaching bankruptcy for 20 years."

Goss said the proposal by Sir John Oakes, Director General of FAO, for creation of a World Food Board with powers to buy when prices are low, and sell when they are high, needs further study to make it practicable.

"If any such plan can be made to work in a practical manner," he said, "it will no doubt prove to be not only a great stabilizer of the farming industry, but also a practical means of nations working together to solve problems which have heretofore led to great distress, strife and even to war."

Although American food consumption this year has been 12 percent above the pre-war average, Goss said, there is need for still more if means can be found for keeping consumer purchasing power high and for improved production and marketing. "The Agricultural Research and Marketing Act passed by Congress last July may prove to be one of 'the most constructive pieces of legislation ever passed as an aid to meeting the farm problem,'" he said. Research into food distribution has untold possibilities for better service with substantial savings for producers and consumers alike, Goss said. It, however, should go beyond the physical handling of the crop and include a study of economic forces which have so frequently permitted a small surplus to drive the whole price structure to unconscionable levels, he said. (To be continued)
